

MAKERS OF BOGUS MONEY

Details of the Famous Kendig-Jacob Counterfeit Case.

Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service, Tells the Story of the Conspiracy, Tracing the Criminals—Description of the Captured Outfit—All Concerned to Enter a Plea of Guilty.

In speaking of the Kendig-Jacob conspiracy, Chief Wilkie, of the Government Secret Service, said that eleven persons connected with the scheme had been arrested, and that the following machinery and tools had been captured, thereby concluding the work, and putting the Government in possession of all secrets and particulars connected with the conspiracy. The captured outfit consists of three large steel plates for printing 50-cent, internal revenue cigar stamps; three sets of transfer rolls; face and back plates of $100 Lincoln head legal tender note; face and back plates of $100 Monroe head silver certificate; face and back plates of $50 Evans head silver certificate; face and back of $20 Hamilton head legal tender note; face and back plates of $20 Manning head silver certificate; face and back plates of $10 Sheridan head Treasury notes; plates for two seals, and two sets of tin foil impressions for electrotyping purposes; three numbering machines.

The eleven persons connected with the conspiracy are Jacobs, Kendig, A. Taylor, H. Taylor, Brechtel, James Burns, Ingman, Newitt, Downey, Fairbanks, and O'Dea. Three of these made a fight in the courts, but were convicted, all the others will plead guilty to the charges preferred against them on the same day, and when the case will come up before the grand jury in Philadelphia.

Regarding the circumstances as connected with the arrest of Harry Taylor, and the confession of his brother Arthur, and Brechtel, who are in Moyamensing Prison, Philadelphia, awaiting trial, Chief Wilkie said: "On Thursday morning last the City Trust Company in Philadelphia found one of the counterfeit $20 notes in the deposit of the Goodrich Rubber Company. This concern is entirely new, and is operated by Griffith, of the Government Secret Service in Philadelphia, of the matter, who learned from the Goodrich people that they had received the note from a Taylor dealer by the name of Dunlevy. Upon questioning Dunlevy about the counterfeit note, he remembered that the note was given to him on Monday evening, and returned home Monday evening, and Taylor passed in a car the hotel at which Chief Wilkie was staying. He was informed that the chief wanted to see him. When confronted with the crime, he first denied all knowledge, but upon learning that Chief Wilkie was well posted on the matter, he admitted his guilt. He said that he received $20 from his brother Arthur, who was then in Moyamensing, and positively had no knowledge of anything about more counterfeit notes. After a searching cross-examination by Chief Wilkie, Taylor saw that it would be useless to withhold further particulars. Chief Wilkie, Operative Harris, and District Attorney Burns, thereupon went to Moyamensing to interview A. Taylor and Brechtel about the plates, but they insisted that they had thrown them into the Delaware River, and that they were not telling the truth and had search warrants sworn out for a number of places where he thought he might get a clue to the plates. Mrs. Taylor, the mother of the imprisoned man was seen, but she was entirely unconscious of the misdeeds of her sons. Chief Wilkie when on the point of leaving said unexpectedly to what became of the package which Harry took away?" Mrs. Taylor admitted that Harry had taken it away about a month ago, but that she did not know its contents. Harry Taylor thereupon took the Secret Service men about ten miles out from Philadelphia on the Darby Pike, where the package containing the two tin foil impressions were found buried a foot below the surface along the stone wall of the garden of the Burton residence.

Chief Wilkie and Operative Burns thereupon returned to Moyamensing prison to endeavor to secure the confessions of Arthur Taylor and Brechtel. After being made acquainted with the recovery of the plates, they decided to make a full confession. Chief Wilkie said that the discovery of the plates and the securing of the information of the whereabouts of the plates is largely due to the cleverness of Operative Burns.

Chicago's Telephone System.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Mayor Harrison received such a favorable proposition today from the Chicago Telephone Company regarding the overhauling and maintenance of the police and fire telephones that he directed City Electrician Elliott to abandon his plans of inaugurating a municipal system. The offer of the corporation means a reduction from $5 to $1.50 per instrument, or a total cut of $5,250 for 1,500 telephones. Mayor Harrison said he could not see how the city could install the system and avoid losing money in view of the company's offer. Many claim, however, that the charge now is extortionate and that the city is the loser.

House Burned Near Hyattsville.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., May 10.—The two-story frame residence of Harry Smith, at River Station, in Prince George county, near Hyattsville, was destroyed by fire late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Smith was badly burned about the face in rescuing her infant child. The fire originated in the summer kitchen, and the house was quickly destroyed. A defective fuse is supposed to have been the cause of the fire. Everything in the dwelling was consumed. The building and household effects were partially insured.

Virginia Forest Fires.

WOODSTOCK, Va., May 10.—Pierce fires are raging on the North Mountain, west of this place, and many acres of woodland have been burned over. On Tuesday the flames were increased by a stiff southern wind, and a large number of people were fighting in the vain effort to control them. In a short while after the wind changed a dense smoke settled down over the valley and objects half a mile distant were not discernible.

Struck by a Fast Freight.

ROANOKE, Va., May 10.—A bad accident, the collision of a freight train on the Norfolk and Western Road and a wagon filled with people, occurred at Montvale, ten miles east of here, Tuesday evening. In the wagon were J. H. Bishop, James Walden, twelve years of age; Barrow Boyle, ten years; and two colored boys. The train was east bound and was making rapid speed down grade. Mr. Bishop was driving the horses. He was knocked out of the wagon and badly injured. It is feared internally. James Walden had his skull crushed and one eye was gouged out. His chance of life hangs on a thread. The Boyle boy, who is a son of W. D. Boyle, had his head bruised and received a cut on his forehead. The colored boys jumped from the wagon and escaped injury.

Deaths.

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 10.—The house of John Zimmerly, two miles east of Cumberland, was struck by lightning Tuesday night and badly damaged. Part of the roof was torn away and the gable end knocked out. The lightning made a hole in the ground large enough to hold a hoghead. A sister of Mr. Zimmerly was badly stunned by the electricity.

DISFIGURED BY A HORSE

Horatio R. Harper Attacked by a Vicious Animal.

Member of the New York Publishing Firm Has a Portion of His Lip Bitten Off and Sustains Other Injuries—The Unfortunate Man Rescued From the Stall by a Groom.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Horatio R. Harper, a member of the famous family of publishers, is in a serious condition at his home at Sands Point, L. I., having been terribly bitten by a horse.

Mr. Harper will be disfigured for life. The horse took off a portion of his upper lip and otherwise injured him. The accident happened Tuesday afternoon.

There are stables attached to Mr. Harper's Sands Point place filled with riding and driving horses. For some reason, he retained the stall of the vicious animal Tuesday afternoon. He had been there only a minute or two when the horse suddenly turned on him. At the time Mr. Harper was standing near the animal's head not suspecting an attack. The beast made a fierce bite at Mr. Harper and caught the unfortunate man's upper lip between its teeth.

At the same instant the horse lashed out with his forefeet and tried to stamp the life out of Mr. Harper. He is a big, muscular man with plenty of grit and, though half dazed and suffering the most acute pain, kept the animal from trampling him until a groom, alarmed by the noise of the battle, ran into the stable and dragged Mr. Harper into a place of safety.

Mrs. Harper at once summoned physicians, who attended the injured man. A small portion of the lip was bitten completely off, and the rest of it hung by a few shreds. The doctors sewed up the wounds, and are hopeful of making the disfigurement less serious than was at first feared.

Mr. Harper was cut and bruised in many places on the body, where the hoofs of the horse struck him, but these injuries are regarded as of small consequence, compared with the frightful laceration of his face.

Carried Wealth to Their Wives. VINELAND, N. J., May 10.—Charles Roe, of Arlington, and Carry Atwood, of Strawberry Point, Pa., husbands of the nieces and heirs of the late B. D. Maxham, of this place, returned to their homes yesterday each with over $100,000 in his inside pocket as his wife's share of the estate. They also carried to D. S. Maxham, a brother of the deceased, his share of a little over $100,000. The Iowa men are farmers in moderate circumstances.

A WOMAN'S AWFUL PERIL.

"There is only one chance to save your life, and that is through an operation," were the startling words heard by Mrs. E. R. Hunt, of Line Ridge, Va., from her doctor after he had vainly tried to cure her of a big fatal case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stones had formed and she was in a desperate condition. She began to use Electric Bitters, which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful stomach, liver, and kidney remedy. Cures Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Torpid Liver, Biliousness, etc. For sale by Kidney Evans, druggist, 922 F St. n. w.

SEVEN NAVAL CADETS THE VICTIMS

Editors of the "Lucky Bag" Dipped Into the Severn by Victims of Their Humor.

The class of 1900, Naval Academy, has revived the ducking stool for offenders. Last Tuesday night after gun fire, 9:30 p. m., when the half hour comes, several improvised boatswains of the class piped "run out vigilance committee," and at the word the appointed sub-committee seized the seven editors of the "Lucky Bag." All the ducked cadets took their sentence kindly, though their teeth chattered frantically with dripping sweat. They had the boys offered Hensler's Merser, Senate or Lager, to the seven victims to drink, they had been enjoying the surprise morsel, and the ducking stool was not used.
